

Great for students who worry about transitions, abandonment or have attachment issues

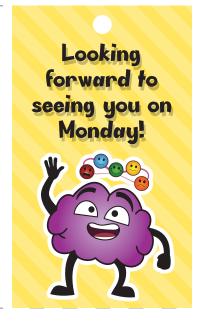

Great for students who worry about transitions, abandonment or have attachment issues

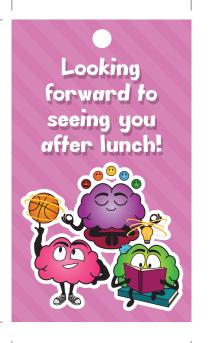

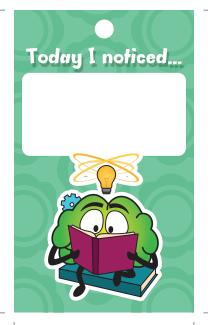

Write positive messages so that students know that are not invisible and you see their effort

A great way to recognise students and build positive relationships

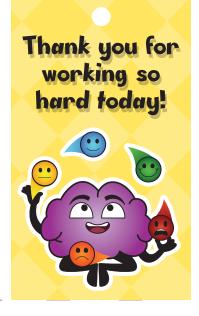

A great way to recognise students and build positive relationships

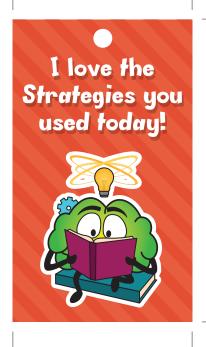

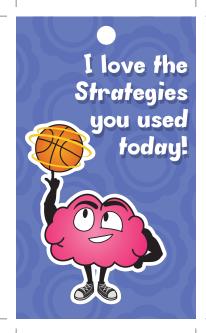

A great way to recognise students efforts and build growth mindsets.

A great way to recognise students efforts and build growth mindsets

